

El Paso Moose Begin New Effort

Talk by Ex-Congressman
Lentz Encourages Work
For Sanatorium.

A renewed effort on the part of the members of the local Moose order to secure the proposed $2,000,000 Moose sanatorium for El Paso is the result of the "Moosheart" talk made by ex-congressman John J. Lentz, of Columbus, Ohio. The address was delivered Thursday night to an audience that filled the chamber of commerce.

The Mooseheart, according to Mr. Lentz, is the "material manifestation of the spiritual substance of the world's best manhood and womanhood." It was along these lines that the Moose home, located at Aurora, Ill., was built and is being maintained at the present time. The home is a university, farm, and a home for the needy members of the order. Every member of the order is an actual stockholder and pays $1 a year towards the upkeep of the institution. The women who belong to the order contribute one cent a week. The Mooseheart provides a home for the orphans of those who belong to the order.

The lodge owns 500 acres of ground and the farms are stocked with blooded cattle. Those who are taken within its doors, according to Mr. Lentz, are taught the practical things of life and a vocation that will enable them to earn a livelihood when they leave the institution. Children when sent to the home are examined as to their ability along different lines. Those who show an inclination to become farmers are put to work on the farms and taught farming in a scientific way, Mr. Lentz said. Students of the agricultural department are also taught to be judges of stock. The claim is made that when a student graduates from the agricultural department he is a scientific farmer in every sense of the word.

Has 500,000 Members.
The growth of the order resulting in the increased membership has resulted in the enlargement of the "Moosheart" home and the proposed plan for the erection of the $2,000,000 sanatorium. Only recently a new building, making the seventh, was added to the Mooseheart home. The new structure is intended for the station on the Burlington railroad, a postoffice and express office for the inmates of the home. It is intended that after the postoffice is opened, a permanent administrative building will be built. By a resolution of the board of governors of the institution the building unless it is fire proof will be constructed in the permanent plant. That action was taken after the first fire at "Moosheart," which occurred in February. There was only a small loss but the fire resulted in the board of governors of the institution resolving to erect only fire proof buildings in the future.

Large Class of "Tyros" Added at Recent Ceremonial; Knights of Pythias Are Active.
At the recent ceremonial of El Paso Moose No. 15, Dr. J. C. O'Connell, Knights of Pythias, the following "tyros" were added to the membership roster, four of whom attained the honors via the "short route," the remainder being interested spectators and admitted by obligation through the usual ritualistic ceremony, except

Chaplain Axton Doing Great Work
Voluntarily Becomes the "Padre" of the Prison Camp at Fort Bliss; Administering to Refugees.
By NORMAN M. WALKER.

"CAPT. JOHN T. AXTON," it reads on the regimental roster of the 20th Infantry.

The "Sky Pilot" is what the doughboys of the 20th call their fighting chaplain. Inside of the barbed wire compound of the Mexican prison camp he is known as "Padre," the little father of the regiment's prisoners.

Chaplain Axton is the busiest man on the fort reservation, a three-legged dog with a bumper crop of fleas being the nearest approach to the Salt Lake "Sky Pilot" when he is in full sail between the headquarters of the 20th and the compound where his friends, the prisoners, are confined. There is no lost motion about this husky husband of a man of souls. He is efficiency plus. He has to be, for his parish covers 10 square miles and his congregation includes 1000-odd infantrymen of the American standing army and 5000 Mexican prisoners, refugees and sons and daughters of the regiment who have been born within the prison confines.

Youngsters Revere Him.
When the chaplain makes the rounds of the prison camp, as he does each day, small soldiers of two and three years stand at mock attention, raise the right hand to their foreheads and forward in the Mexican military salute, the little camp followers, many of them born on the battlefield, scamper after the "Padre" and beg for dimes or shoes to cover their tiny, bare feet. It is a labor of love with chaplain Axton, for the government is not paying him a cent more for his work among the Mexicans than he would draw as a first grade chaplain of the infantry service. Yet he has been working tirelessly among the alien people and to him is due much of the credit for the splendid condition of the prison camp and the legends in domestic economy which the refugees and interned prisoners have learned.

Has Charge of Commissary.
Chaplain Axton has charge of the camp commissary for the 20th Infantry and also for the interned soldiers in the prison camp. The money from the prison commissary is used to buy milk for the little ones who have been born within the camp confines and to furnish diet for the sick in the hospital. In addition to this, chaplain Axton has been the custodian of the great quantity of clothing, shoes, supplies, and especially baby layettes which have been sent to the regiment for the Mexican prisoners.

Since the institution of the "Dokey" temple, the local Knights of Pythias lodge, the parent organization, has taken on new life, and additional members are being initiated at every meeting. The "Dokeys" will in all probability pull off another ceremonial during the summer as already several new applications have been received. The temple now has nearly 150 members.

EAGLES TO ELECT A CHAPLAIN.
Fraternal Eagles flew to the aerial on El Paso street Monday night for the regular business meeting. The position of chaplain in the lodge was declared vacant at this meeting and nominations were made to fill the office. The election will be held next Wednesday night at the regular meeting.

ELKS TO INSTALL.
Installation of officers of the Elks' lodge for 1914 will be held on the first Tuesday night in April. V. R. Siles, new exalted ruler, will succeed Clyde Holmes. The regular weekly meeting of the lodge was held Tuesday night for the transaction of routine business.

MACCABEES HAVE LUNCHEON.
A big crowd was present at the weekly meeting Thursday night of the Maccabees. A light luncheon and cigars were served after the business session. Deputy Kenzie, of Texas, Kan., Tex., is expected in El Paso soon to begin a campaign for new members for the Maccabees.

He has received a ton of mail inquiring about the needs of these people and how to send supplies to them.
Baby Clothes Are Favorite Articles for the charitable articles for the distribution at the camp. The story of the 50 naked babies, born in the camp, appealed to the mother love throughout the land and a rain of baby clothes, little dresses, complete layettes and even nursing bottles were received at the camp. Baby substantiated shoes for the women are also being received and put to good service, as the Mexican government has refused to furnish clothing or shoes for these women who are as much a part of the federal army as are the men fighters. One freight shipment contained books in English, telling of the wanderers of the Grand canyon, which new if any of the prisoners could read. A Bible society offered 4000 Bibles for the prison camp.

Believe in Recreation.
A friend of the chaplain's sent him a check, with instructions to use it in a way that would do the most good. The chaplain did not hesitate a minute, but bought an outfit of baseballs, bats and gloves for the prisoners to use in their games inside of the compound, showing that he is a keep student of human nature as well as of the Bible. He has also purchased garden and flower seeds for the prisoners who have cultivated little garden patches no bigger than a blanket. He believes that the Mexicans are learning a great lesson on cleanliness and right living at the camp and is encouraging them in their efforts.

As a reward for his work in the interest of the alone, chaplain Axton has been recommended for promotion by his commanding officer, an honor that is one of the highest in the army. If this is approved by the war department, he will be Maj. Axton to the doughboys but will remain "El Padre" to the Mexican federal prisoners.

Serious Books Are Read
New York, March 21.—New York is becoming more serious minded. Its men are reading more than they ever did before and are reading more than the women, and reading books that tend to raise their pay rather than literature that merely amuses. This is indicated by the annual report of the New York Public Library. It shows that the East Side is the hungriest for knowledge, and that the Bronx readers, if they continue to read as much in the future as they did during the past year, will make the northernmost borough the best read district of the greater city.

According to the report more than 4,000,000 persons were helped in some way or another through the staff of the library. In addition to more than 2,000,000 visitors and readers, there were innumerable requests by mail and telephone for information and advice.

Twenty-nine of the 41 branches show a gain of 555,976; while twelve show losses of 104,541. Nearly 200,000 readers made use of the periodicals and newspapers in the department devoted to these publications. The library now contains 2,151,493 books and pamphlets, and the assets of the library are estimated at $14,687,821, without including the $10,000,000 central building. It cost $1,250,000 to maintain the library last year. In the children's room in the central building more than 3,000,000 volumes were circulated last year. "Thousands of children," says the report, "were entertained there by story tellers, while mothers and fathers shopped or attended to business."

When a firm has successfully conducted its business for years, it is justified somewhat in thinking that its neighbors know about it. Hundreds of families living in Homes they bought of us know us as one of the best building firms in EL PASO, but EL PASO is great and growing and it is a source of much satisfaction that we have been able to grow with it and to contribute to its expansion in helping house, economically and comfortably, the influx of many friends and neighbors.

In the early stages our business was confined to building a home here and there; while now we have grown to a point where we build up an entire neighborhood.

On Montana Street, Rio Grande Street and Boulevard on the 2400 to the 2900 Blocks we own over One Hundred Building Sites. In this very neighborhood we have built many homes and our plans now are to build up all this vacant property with the same homes that have earned our reputation for us.

THE FINAL
CHOICE OF THE DISCRIMINATING
PURCHASER

When a firm has successfully conducted its business for years, it is justified somewhat in thinking that its neighbors know about it. Hundreds of families living in Homes they bought of us know us as one of the best building firms in EL PASO, but EL PASO is great and growing and it is a source of much satisfaction that we have been able to grow with it and to contribute to its expansion in helping house, economically and comfortably, the influx of many friends and neighbors.

In the early stages our business was confined to building a home here and there; while now we have grown to a point where we build up an entire neighborhood.

On Montana Street, Rio Grande Street and Boulevard on the 2400 to the 2900 Blocks we own over One Hundred Building Sites. In this very neighborhood we have built many homes and our plans now are to build up all this vacant property with the same homes that have earned our reputation for us.
